

Casual Email from Alumni to University Foundation Suggesting Sponsorship Program

Subject: Idea for Alumni-Funded Sponsorship Initiative

Hi [Foundation Director Name],

I hope you're doing well! As a proud [University Name] alumnus (Class of [Year]), I've been thinking about ways to give back to the institution that shaped my career and life.

I'd like to propose establishing a sponsorship fund specifically for students from [specific demographic/region/background]. Having been a scholarship recipient myself, I understand firsthand how financial support can be transformative. I'm now in a position where I can help others have the same opportunities I had.

Here's what I'm envisioning:

- An initial contribution of [amount] to sponsor [number] students
- Annual renewals based on student performance
- Possibility of expanding if other alumni want to join
- Perhaps a mentorship component where sponsored students can connect with alumni sponsors

I'd love to chat about the logistics—how the foundation typically manages these arrangements, tax implications, selection criteria, and reporting. I'm flexible on the details but passionate about making this happen.

Could we schedule a call or coffee meeting sometime next week? I'm excited to explore how we can make a real difference for deserving students who might otherwise miss out on the [University Name] experience.

Looking forward to hearing from you!

Cheers,

[Your Name]
