

Teacher Returning from Maternity/Medical Leave

Dear Families,

I hope this letter finds you well. I'm excited to write to you as I prepare to return to the classroom after my extended leave. I have missed teaching tremendously and am eager to reconnect with the wonderful students and families in our school community.

For those who may not know me, I'm [Teacher Name], and I taught [grade/subject] for [number] years before taking leave for [brief, appropriate reason - maternity, medical, etc.]. During my time away, I've been in regular contact with the substitute teacher and have been following your children's progress closely.

I want to express my gratitude to [substitute teacher's name] for maintaining the high standards and positive learning environment during my absence. The transition back should be smooth, as I've been kept informed of all curriculum developments and individual student progress.

I'm refreshed and excited to bring new ideas and renewed energy to our classroom. I've used my time away to reflect on teaching practices and am looking forward to implementing some exciting new approaches to learning.

Please feel free to reach out if you have any questions about the transition or if there's anything specific about your child's recent experiences that you'd like me to know.

I can't wait to see the students again and continue our learning journey together!

Warmly,

[Teacher Name]

Get more templates here:

<https://www.lettersandtemplates.com/letters/introduction-letter-to-parents-from-teacher>